Note: These valuation ranges were obtained from the Salvation Army website (www.salvationarmyusa.org) and are presented only as general guidelines. Other charities also provide valuation guides. For example, see Goodwill Industries' website at www.goodwill.org. A charitable deduction for noncash items typically is the FMV of the goods donated. It is the taxpayer's responsibility to document the FMV of each item donated. The FMV of used household goods and clothing is usually much less than their original cost and depends on the condition and usefulness of the items donated. See Clothing and household items on Page 5-14 and IRS Pub. 561, Determining the Value of Donated Property, for more information.

When you drop off to the organization below, you may ask them to do the evaluation of goods and a receipt will be sent to you with the total value in a few weeks.
